

I do not agree with the elimination of the Element 1 test requirement completely.

For upgrade to the General Class License. I feel Element 1 requirement should be removed. Most people that I know that are General Class Licensed Hams no longer use Morse Code and state that Morse Code is outdated and should be removed as a requirement. And that they will never use Code. The US Military no longer uses Morse code.

I do feel that the Requirement for Element 1 testing for The Extra Class License Should Remain in Place.
